ABOUT RICKY E. HARRELL, DMD, MA

Dr. Ricky E. Harrell is a 1979 graduate of the University of Alabama School of Dentistry. After serving as a commissioned officer in the U.S. Public Health Service in the Navajo Area Indian Health service for three years, he returned to the University of Alabama and completed his residency in Orthodontics in 1984. Dr. Harrell was in the private practice of orthodontics in Westminster, CO from 1984-2006, and after leaving private practice became an educator at The University of Colorado School of Dental Medicine from 2006-2015. He earned an MA in Education from the University of the Pacific in 2014. Before coming to Georgia School of Orthodontics in 2017, he served as Program Director and Professor in the Department of Orthodontics at the Medical University of South Carolina. His clinical teaching interests include temporary anchorage devices, diode laser treatment, the role of extractions in orthodontic treatment, and surgical orthodontics. He has been Program Director at Georgia School of Orthodontics since April, 2017 and has seen the program grow to the largest dental specialty residency in the world.

Dr. Harrell is a Life Member of the American Association of Orthodontists (1984), the Southern Association of Orthodontists (2015) and the American Dental Association. He is a Fellow of the American College of Dentists and a Diplomate of the American Board of Orthodontics. When out of the office and school, he enjoys music, fishing, skiing, hiking, yard work, traveling, reading, and spending time with his wife, Melanie and their family.
